

3CR Wine Fundraiser Order Form

It's our fortieth birthday and winemaker and 3CR supporter Luke Lambert is helping us out by providing us with wine for a special fundraiser to commemorate. We are selling this wine via telephone, mail or internet order only, and it will be available for collection from 3CR from 15th November – 23rd December 2016. You will be getting a good bargain given that Luke's Crudo wines generally retail for $28 but we are offering it for $15 per bottle. You can snap up even more of a bargain by buying in dozen or 1/2 dozen lots, or mix it up with a mixed dozen or 1/2 dozen order. Wine has a 3CR label.

Luke Lambert's Crudo range

All Luke Lambert wines are handpicked and of single-vineyard origin. They are wildly perfumed with moderate alcohol, fresh acidities, powdery tannins, and limited oak influence. These are wines made as if the industrial revolution (in wine) was a figment of our collective imagination. Luke's methodology includes wild ferments without the aid of temperature control, hand plunging, long macerations (with plenty of whole-bunch for the Syrahs), basket-pressing, gravity rather than pumping, old oak, and no fining or filtration. Lambert's belief is that "...the best wines have always been made by feel and are always sourced from unique and interesting vineyards that have natural balance and grow grapes full of character..."

Chardonnay

It bursts in the mouth; charmingly textured, tangy but complex, complementing funky, "solids-y" savoury notes with pithy, mouth watering citrus.

Shiraz

"Vibrant, fruit-pure and best drunk young with a light chill. Expect dark berries, old spice cupboard and anise scents, while the palate shows dark fruit fleshiness and brisk, refreshing acidity." Mike Bennie, Gourmet Traveller

Rose

Complex, textural, seductive yet vibrant and refreshing, this is pretty much everything you could hope for a bottle rose to deliver. The new release is a more delicate wine than the 2015, with more talc, river stone, and strawberry lift. Glug away.
