Open and remember any opinions on this program are strictly my own personal opinions and not those of any organization with which I may be Associated past present. I can't talk about the future. I'm haven't got a time machine. What is it the time-space Continuum doc? No can't quite work that one out. But pan people and queer people of quite extraordinary will try to work out a few things today one that's not easy to work out is just to wrap up on of trans day of visibility on Wednesday and

And other events thereupon to wit and also going to be a bit thought-provoking today. So if you've got your holiday coffee and feeling relaxed and creative thoughts. Well, I got a bit of a topic it's which I put in the posts about the show, which was how do you deal with politicians in the right way if you're a queer Advocate I'll stick to queer. It may be similar for others. As I said. It's an advocacy case study which came to light in the last week.

In that I've had been on the job a bit and you know sort of I've called it dewy stoker Arrigo. You may pick up a pun there. If you do you got at the top of the putting prize sort of pull or something like that anyway, but so the happy thing first, well the world today on the 31st of March that day is trans day of visibility and look a bit muted this year. I felt I was only aware of three events recognizing the day regardless of when they

I fell in terms of public type events yours truly was involved in a couple of workplace talks as part of my one as myself one representing my work my own trans-specific focused workplace being transgender Victoria, but soon there were a few from all reports. The Rainbow Village at darebin was a success if you were there or heard anything about it pop it through to me on the means of communication furthermore to wit.

There was an event I believe for Yara libraries, but if you were there at that one, but I actually streamed in so to speak to the sold-out event up in Ballarat and well done to save your career and all the crew up there who organized the speaker event. And I think this was a really important event. I mean there are lots of events in what is now called in a metropolitan Melbourne or CBD and Metropolitan Melbourne Central business district, they're in but

It's a reminder that whilst I think that the gaps between Regional and Rural on the one hand or in some parts of this large island remote areas and also the sort of inner Metro in particular a breaking down this still distance to travel. I remember reflecting it up a pride March around 2010 that there did seem to be more Regional and Rural representation, which was incredibly welcome a lot of the time Pride March throughout these little late night.

To the early 2000s recently enough was sort of inner city dance venues or nightclub venues those sorts of things which is all very well. But of course trans and for that matter rainbow people are everywhere in every geographic location, and there's a tendency to think I'll well haven't we sort of got past all the the breakdown we've got this thing called internet now, you know sort of regional Victoria gets the same Nightly News bulletins as well as their own.

Local ones as the metro area. Is it all different? Well the stories from sage and many many and the others on the panel showed that there's still distance to travel and there's still basic educating to do in terms of things. Like well getting a haircut that suits your particular gender getting medical service all those sorts of things. So yeah, there is still room to move and it is a reminder of bringing everyone along, you know, everyone needs to be lifting everyone and of course

Differences between you know City and Country to some extent. I'm not saying they're totally different but you know, there is isolation. There's less visibility and as a general rule, very big generalization granted in a Melbourne in particular can be quite is relatively I'll say relatively Cosmopolitan or that sort of thing. It'll look I personally and is a very subjective Lee have never had any any more issues in Regional and rural

Victoria when I've been out and about obviously very little last year or less for nine months there of to compared to Metro Melbourne sometimes in a city can be cruel. I think there's a Bruce Springsteen line. I guess. There's a meanness in this town. That's someone said that once anyway, but it's a reminder that you know, there is a need to consider those differences. No, it's not necessarily necessarily the case that Regional and Rural people can be more conservative or that makes them more nasty and

That commas but no got to consider these things. I live in a very conservative. What is a relatively conservative in my opinion suburb of Metro Melbourne. I'm 12:9 15 kilometers east of the central business district here suburb called Bullybin which is originates by should add from the local people's the Ballin Ballin which apparently in English means lyrebird their have visions of liya birds all around the my streets.

But I've never had a problem really in my local area and there's increasing visibility local Council doing lots of good things so it can vary and of course, there's lots of good things happening in the country. There's an increased representation of at least LG B if I can use that counselors on local government or hearing in a Melbourne if we're going to add the I Tony briefer on the city of this Hobson's Bay Council and openly intersex person for most of the last bead on the Almost the last 18 years. Now. How do I have how's your mental health going Tony, you know you survived politics for most of 18 years. You're a better human than I am gunga din. Seriously really good thought but it just shows coming back to the point. We do need that visibility out there still I want to touch on that when we get to our next topic as well. I've been a little been thinking about something for the last week and a half about an issue of visibility and it will link

Kin to topic that will sort of Link into the next one and thereafter. So have a thought threat that today, but where do you think that we still got might be incredibly obvious? But let's have it in your own words message in by all the means. Where do you think there's still unequal representation in any aspect of rainbow communities. Is it, you know Metro versus regional rural aren't there where you live don't have to name where you live is it, you know, sort of good. Okay. Bye.

That sort of thing. How's it going out there for you? And in the meantime in the last week or so, we had a birthday of a wonderful musician who to me has only one there's lots of good voices in music regardless of gender and this person always to me is just someone who had a great range and yes, it was her birthday on March the 28th in 1955. So that makes her if I'm doing my math so six 86 get your kicks on Route 66 to Reba McEntire. And here's a track that will tie into the next segment you lie, 3cr 855 am-3 see our Digital 3cr Dot org dot U + 3 CR on demand out of the pan with Sally.

More than 70 innocent refugees are still being indefinitely detained in detention centers and secure hotels around Australia over recent months many fellow detainees have been released on to bridging visas. Those remaining are desperate to know why they are still held it is indefinite. It is cool and it is unlawful every day a group of supporters protest this brutality outside the Park Hotel at 701 Swanston Street, Melbourne.

We're 11 men remained trapped and whose hopes are fading and whose mental health is declining. The aim of the protests is to raise awareness of the situation for the general public but also to show support and solidarity to the men inside. It is also for the approximately 200 refugees still held offshore. Please come along any weeknight at 6 p.m. Or weekend at 3 p.m.

3 C R8 V 5A m3c our Digital 3cr Dot org dot a You 3cr On Demand. Thanks for your company on out of the pan a show covering pansexual issues knowing no boundaries of sex or gender and broadcasting between noon and 1:00 every Sunday back to Australian Eastern Standard Time as of this week and will be on that standard time for another six months. Well, we just heard from Reba McEntire You Lie and

Well, some people say sometimes you gotta line others say no you don't and the I sort of all that sort of thing. Yeah, I'm sorry too slight distraction there. Yeah, do you or don't you what are the ethics of line? Do you schmooze people if you just doing diplomatic Malarkey do you lie, I've thought about this in the

Sort of case of a situation that's emerged in the last week since the Prime Minister Scott Morrison reshuffled his cabinet in light of the ongoing saga that is behavior in federal Parliament the building and some might say on the wall not quite on the floor of the parliament as well and that is in relation to the issue of the

Amanda stoker as assistant Minister for women and thinking about this week because yours truly had three different phone calls from different media asking me about it. And there were different responses. Once the months. You know, I saw the final articles my quotes were there all accurate. Obviously, I wasn't contacted by Murdoch media now, I did say that seriously, there were the quotes and yet other people were quite a

Differently and it's been something that's been on my mind for some time. And that is that you know, how do you deal with politicians? Yes, they have power they have influence and they don't often use it in the wisest and most altruistic way and that can apply regardless of political party. But on the other hand, how far do you go to appease them? Do you go any distance? Do you just move them to? Yes. We look forward to working with you when they've got an abysmal record.

When you're in the media you are talking to lots of people you're talking to your own Community. You're talking to the public you're talking to the politicians. How do you balance it? And so I think it's a really interesting thought that I wanted to just sort of have throw bit of abstract discussion into the airwaves about you know, I remember once someone taught, you know came up to me with this and said, oh we have to engage and you know implying that we have to engage with fundamentalist Christians right-wingers and so on and I said well, when did I engage with us when someone like not that they really matter, but the Christian Lobby sat down and said let's talk equally and respectfully to you trans or for that matter lgbtqi a plus communities and come up with better Solutions. Can you communicate with them one of my mysteries of life is how do you communicate with people who just won't communicate so it's an interesting thing. And so I just was wondering do we schmooze people is as said in the program promotion today and you know sort of the

The situation with Amanda stoker is a case study now and it happens all the time. Do we call it? You know, when how often can you keep trying to call people in and groups as a whole and let's face it whilst there are no politicians of all behaviors across the political spectrum of parties and ideologies some overall in terms of attitudes to our community generally don't do it as well and there are some who crossover between our Community and the Parliament and don't do it that well and there are some wonderful heterosexual cisgender Endo sex allies Endo sex meaning sex characteristics that fit male or female expectations. So it's a really interesting topic and I wonder how do you hold true to yourself while not being, you know, sort of being going too far. How do you be assertive and not aggressive lots of questions to consider?

Yeah, I suppose Melina's message didn't on the opening segment. Nice to hear today is I'm getting ready for a family lunch and listen to a shelter. Stop the quote there. I forgot to wish for those who for whom it matters wishing you a happy Easter time of faith and restoration. I was just having a quick look during the break at my lunchtime bulletin from a commercial media outlet that usually at that overwhelmingly in Australia at least does a good job the guardian and the headline is Easter is my favorite time of year a long weekend to pause.

Contemplate the road ahead time to be together without the urgency. And for netis ISM that Easter Christmas brings I tend to agree with that actually now, I sort of Christmas. It's all run around by the gifts and then sort of called get through 25th of December. If you were reviewed one that day and then sort of just disintegrate in a puddle have to say yesterday. I went for a swim sat on the decking by the public pool where I go had a coffee, it's Melbourne after all had something to eat then.

Lay on the grass in the shade 30° listen to the football even if the result wasn't one of my going so well for my particular team will come but we won't mention which one in the interests of diplomacy and it's like gee how good does it get really gratitude for what we have. So yes, these are some of the Privileges we have which then brings me back to the rest of malina's message. Molina asks quote beginning the quote again, is it because you are white and middle class that people have accepted you as well in your conservative.

Yeah, that's lovely to hear what Wheels must also acknowledge our privileges. I'll end the quote for there. There's an another Topic in this you raise a fair point Molina but look I actually acknowledging my white privilege. I actually think the area I live maybe I think people are genuinely trying to do their best and what comes to mind is there was a piece is there's a small standard post office box out.

Outside the local strip of shops. Not far from where I live. And where on the days I'm working from home. The my favorite coffee place is within walking distance, hashtag more gratitude and there was a few years ago a racist comment written on it. I won't repeat the comment. There's no point and I just who wants to see that and I was quite you know that watching there was one on another one. I saw a picture in the local paper and rang them. This is when we had local papers sadly now soon.

Disappeared so much come back to that in a second too. And I rang to look I also saw the same comment on another post office box near me and August was quite an in there were no snarky comments under the article anything. It just seemed like there is a willingness to do better and I think that yeah sure. I have privilege but I also think that we and yes, I'm sure there are trans people of color trans people who can intersect between trans.

Or Torres Strait Islander who have it worse. And yes, I do have whilst. I don't wouldn't call myself Wealthy by any means, you know, so I'm Rhonda the Honda the 2000 Honda is still running, but it's not a Porsche Porsche Turbo or anything like that. But seriously, yeah, I didn't knowledge that point but I don't honestly think that my conservative area is trying to do its best. There's you know, Manningham will be marching in Pride March for the first time this year, which I think says something there's an lgbti.

Reference group being formed all sorts of things. So I think that they're trying to do that conservatism as well as they can. I'm not saying it's perfect for everyone. Of course. It isn't but I think there is a reasonable effort being made so fair question and does remind us to think about our privilege that we have but you know, sometimes let's also I think that it can be both now the other part of your email in on out

Of the pan 855 at gmail is at almost have interested in discussing little nests in the car his controversy this verse you this week as an artist redefining being queer and shaping music especially country with his song. I think he's hilarious and a Savvy marketer. Now, I have to admit I'd have to do some that novel concept, you know, sort of, you know sort of in terms of research. I admit I don't know about littleness. I'm never make it onto commercial radio if I'm going to do research.

Well, maybe not but seriously have to check that one out. I might come back to you on that in a future program or try and do some research during the break and yet following up shape reshaping the genre of country and pop. Well, I think that's fair enough. I don't know. I mean come on we can be non-binary in our genres. I mean Reba McEntire who we just played as someone who crossed over from country to pop in a way made my own got lots of hits on the

Up charts, you know Kenny Rogers and Dolly Parton did a duet that topped both charts. We can be non binary. So I have to have a I'll have to have a listen find out a little more about that one. Try to have a quick listen to something during lighter won't bow to do it during the next song because it's one that we're going to play off Spotify through the laptop into the studio last week debuted on the show music from Tom Glover and the peace and War album some amazing guitar work by this.

Sixteen-year-old melbourne-based guitarist, let's have a bit more of it. And well, you might have to move your he phones away from your ears. If you've got them in on this one. Here's a track called War but it's an instrumental. So there's no lyrics about war so you don't have to get triggered or anything like that 3cr 855 am 3cr Digital 3cr Dot org dot you and

Tom guava and War on 3cr at 5:00 5:00 a.m. Digital three co.org dot a you and 3cr On Demand out of the pan with Sally and attract called War. I'm not sure really sure if that was war it was first found a very peaceful to me. But that's what ever it is. Great. Music great guitar playing. Well done. Tom a sixteen-year-old Melbourne bass guitarist pretty damn awesome if you ask me Molina has Popped in with well emailed me a little more about little illness to sort of you know for me to check out. Hello, Nina. Sorry Molina has added a comment. There's a lot to unpack with this queer artist. He has stirred up controversy with in conservative circles with a tongue-in-cheek video of going to hell as a gay man and being cheeky with Satan. Hmm. That's I'm going to have to watch that one before I go.

I'm in Molina, but interestingly some great Serendipity because I was just having a quick Breeze through the midday bulletin and obviously have to work quite the source here for the guardian and unload and behold. There's an article by someone and to end to Nyssa. I thought I was over my Catholic guilt about being gay. Maybe I was wrong. Well if little NASA never had any about his unique weird guilt, I think it would sound from what you've said them Elena that he's lost it but seriously

Lee and tune before Antonia, I do apologize. If I've got that pronunciation wrong has spoken about this and of course this can be an ongoing thing that for I'm just going to talk sexual romantic orientation and gender identity expression here could be the same for other groups. It's not the possibly so much in intersex issue here. It won't but may not may or may not be I should say but intersex is a different thing. It's a sense of

Your sex characteristics not identity so much aurochs in terms of sexual and gender identity. And so there's an interesting sort of comment Jeremy Shields a clinical psychologist in Melbourne with extensive experience working with lgbtq patients says that it's not just sexual orientation is not just a behavior you can stop and that The Shield's also says being vigilant from an early age will have a motive.

Don't have central nervous system will totally agree with that, you know changes the brain structures in the limbic system that sort of thing so it can sort of manifest in various ways is what the psychologist says. I think that's an interesting point and it's a reminder that people won't just you know, just because we can say have one big legislative reform I a marriage equality that it's all over and that leads into the topic that I wanted to bring up.

A up on this segment, which is something that has been, you know, just floating around in my pea brain now for about 10 days. I mentioned briefly last week. I went to the lovely event. That was the globe queer women in leadership panel discussion or thirst. It was Thursday a week ago. Now, I'm in my best Moneypenny. We're up there and try to pretend to be classy talking class and middle class or something like that at a big big lie.

Building in South Bank, but seriously, there was a line that one of the panelists said that I didn't come out as gay because you don't have to come out as heterosexual or straight now to some extent that panelist is correct. And yes, it is definitely everyone's right to be as out or not out as they want to be a known should force anyone in or out of a closet or anyone else.

My problem is that we still need role models. We still need visibility. And of course as we go through the various groups that make up the total of rainbow communities. There's more visibility in roughly. They sort of gay lesbian. I'll then say not so much for bisexual and trans despite where we're progressing certainly less for intersex. As far as I can tell I know as an educator so many times when we're doing

Lgbtqi+ A+ people. So what's intersects never heard of it before we've even had a chance to say anything and we're heading out the training materials. And once people hear what a is they sort of a bisexual. Okay got a reasonable understanding of that inner if they're not aware of perhaps all the implications details and issues fair enough. So we still need some degree of visibility. And in what sense I again have mixed thoughts and feelings on this in one sense. We those who have come.

Um before me and others fought for the right twist to have that choice and to be out or not out as we wanted and that's fair enough, but is it all over yet? And is this an indication? That's because some people think oh, we've got marriage equality and it's not as bad in inverted commas as bad as it was that at all over for everyone. So I've been a little uh, what's the word contemplative about that one for the last 10 days or so be interested if

Has any thoughts on this particular point do we still need more people to come out who needs it? Why why not all the rest of the issues? Let's have a think about it. What are your thoughts up to get your ideas on this particular issue and do just on the matter of dealing as we said earlier just dealing with government and politics and anyone in a position of influence.

Influence, you know, it's sort of how do you find a fine line where you stand up for your own authentic self, but don't be offensive. But sometimes you can just say something honestly in gently and sincerely. I remember some years ago. I wasn't there at the time but I heard the story very quickly afterwards from a reliable source that a politician was meeting with representatives of rainbow communities on legislation that covered all of sexual orientation.

Her identity and sex characteristics this politician put intersects as gender and put it in with trans which of course they're not the same thing and an intersex person in the room as well. As I would have thought would been in there right said look no intersex isn't about gender quite so they could we just clarify that was very polite about it and was snapped at by the politician Don't lecture me sort of thing. Well, sorry, but if you haven't got the basics right then you might not get

The law right and understand it and know how to talk about it. So yeah, I think that you've got to take some stance now, you don't have to be deliberately rude to anyone and or sarcastic that's not going to help either but you've got to assert your issues and when sometimes I think we've got problem with some elements of our communities, perhaps even more so gays and lesbians who will grovel to people higher up and then sell out those further down like grips like buying

Transfer which I may be able to speak as someone who identifies as part of those groups. And so it's about who we are. What's the answer and so I suppose if it's coming from a place of kindness and positivity then that's the main thing but all the same. How do we deal with it? How do we make sure that we get our point across and not sell anyone out. How do we keep lifting people up a question of leadership something to think about well isn't played it.

Track from this one last week. Let's have another one Colin Hays album of 2017. Fierce Mercy is another great album for you to catch up on your music by whatever means if listing here's a nice sort of laid back track. It says this is called Blue Bay Moon 3cr 855 am 3cr Digital 3cr Dot org dot EU and 3cr On Demand out of the pan with Sally.

Some say time stands still in the baby even the type to later becomes too soon.

I recall what someone told me it's just

No way.

All the signs came down

3c are always bringing you. The latest Union news. They're coming after its at the moment. They want to get rid of penalty rates the big push for businesses that want to get rid of all the things that you and I have fought for. So there's tens of thousands of jobs gone contracted out to Sham Contracting Arrangements on 8:55 a.m. And on the web three

Yeah, dot-org a you.

Councils around the country will put on just disability Day events and quite a few of them will not include people of color first Nations people and black people. So I think it's pretty cool that everyone you'll hear on air today will be a person of color and the majority of them will be people with disabilities as well. I think what you have preparing for the show and for this day we wanted to talk about how we could explain the concept of power from the margins.

And why it is that we've chosen to focus on black people indigenous people and people of color and I think you know in one word, it's intersectionality. It's the fact that people experience forms of Oppression different forms of Oppression of the same time and most people don't realize that you can't have racial Justice without disability Justice and vice versa. We need to keep radical voices on air.

Priscilla 855 m 3 CI Digital 3cr Dot org dot EU and 3cr on-demand out of the pan with Sally first broadcasting noon till one Australian Eastern Standard Time as we are once again this weekend for another six months Molina great checked in again. We pop culture still plays a significant role with younger people. I think that's a fair call. Demi Lovato is an example last week and Demi Lovato is proud to Pansexual Demi I'm with you on that one. This show is right with you on there called out of the pan well with we've just got a new Patron or something like that. Seriously. Thanks for that one Millennia. Yeah, I agree. I think we still need that visibility. It's alright, if you're sort of well, you know in a Melbourne in a Sydney gay lesbian middle class and then of course the more possible or potential there is for negativity down it goes just

There's a great article in today's age. I believe it is today's yes. I brought forth by Caitlyn fits Simon's called. How do you talk about consent with your kids now? I've only just had a chance to Quick have a quick look at this not in any great detail, but it's pretty much on the at a first look right on the proverbial button and you know consent needs to be clear and enthusiastic. Yes, plus. Yes equals. Yes according to a make no doubt website.

New South Wales government slogan, it needs to be voluntary without coercion or pressure a large power differential can affect this or any power differential whether it's gender neuro processing something to do with sexuality EG, you know threatened to out someone or gender identity that sort of thing. The person has to be capable of giving consent so they can't be intoxicated asleep or otherwise out of it consent can be withdrawn at any time and consent for one activity does not imply consent for another there's a Simple and reasonably accurate meme on this the cup of tea mean which says, you know, just because you're someone wouldn't want a cup of tea one day doesn't mean they're going to want the next might want coffee. They might want it with milk. They might want it with sugar and then some days none at all and they might want a glass of water something like that. And then of course it has to be of appropriate age. So that's the first thing that you know rang a bell with me and said this is right on track and I think that any hesitation is best taken as a no, but of course, some people won't take it that way because maybe it is a power thing or

The person not want giving you know breaching. The consent is perhaps not thinking clearly or is under some sort of influence. So really good article in there certainly have a read of that this afternoon see if more comes out of it right coming up next is freedom of species and the talking all things animal advocacy and their Chief topic of discussion today is attitudes to plant-based diets.

So keep your various devices glued on metaphorically glued onto 3cr to make sure that you hear all about that. I'd better get out of the studio and make way for the the threatened with species crew to come in take it out today with some of Dire Straits because it was pick Withers birthday the original Dire Straits drummer actually today the 4th of April and here's a track from the well the huge album love over gold from the 1980s and well, it's about 1/4 Melbourne's weather this weekend. I had even though
