Appropriately enough. We opened up today with Dragon and Rain from the originally from the album in 1981 body in the beat, but appropriately enough yes, it is as A A Milne would have said or Owl to Winnie the Pooh the atmospheric conditions are highly precipitous. In other words, there's a flippin lot of rain out there and it is ...

well, one of the topics that I advertise for today, believe it or not, just a couple of minutes ago, I've had a message roving reporter is back. I don't know where you've been roving, but myself and Jenny have missed you and wanted to ask refrain from analysis of what, when why, and how the individual connected to the situation with Helen Haines and did, I won't do anyone else analysis and recommend people, listen to the AFP. Commissioner, what the AFP commissioner said on insiders this morning go out and just be kind. Well, you've pretty much telepathy thighs with what I was going to say. They're roving because look, I certainly will not. And I mean, this is obviously going to be effectively an ongoing legal case. So for me, too, but my beak in on why? Why I would like to, you know, I totally agree with your last words. I don't know what the Australian federal police commissioner set on insiders this morning. But look, I think, you know, we do have to be careful talking about the specifics, but I suppose now that I do want to talk about the idea that I will say, very, very carefully. It appears that a federal politician has been, you know, targeted in I'm why the fact that there has been some physical involvement there? I mean, it's obviously appalling and first of all, most importantly, best wishes to Helen Haines for the line. Going to say the best possible recovery after such a horrific thing and strength to family friends. Colleagues just seems, you know, the amount of pain or amount of sort of emotion that my must be feeling is immense. And that's the first thing that needs to be stated by, by any means whatsoever, but it just it is disconcerting these sorts of things are happening. I suppose is what I want to say. And look, I agree with your words there where you've said, you know, sort of go out and just be kind. And I think this is what's well in insufficient supply at the moment. And I've touched on this, on this show before where it just seems to me that we have this idea of individual freedom, and people forget about responsibility. And I know that, you know, sound probably sound a bit, get off my lawn and I say that, but I really think that's a part of it that people are sort of, you know, without going without. And this is a very general comment just seems people forget about, they just don't, perhaps don't stop and think.

You know, I'm not talking about specifics of the hell and Hines case at all. But just, you know, we need to get back to win-win Solutions, not just, you know, one things that sort of favor, one Viewpoint or one part of society. And obviously, you know, sort of, if repeat hypothetical, if someone's attacking a legally represent elected representative. That's not a win-win solution and it just seems a very Bad situation and I don't, the thing is, how do we go into detail on that? How do we get people to start doing that? I look, you know, I think it's all very well. There's been calls during the week to tone down the dial down the tone and all that sort of thing. But I think, you know, it's sort of all our leaders, not just politicians, but people in business, everyone, just need to look at what they're doing and how they're doing.

Get an are they you know, to use your words, go out and just be kind, I think we need more of that. And, you know, it was interesting that, you know, in the well previous 24 hours that been, I'll say conversations between two politicians about someone politician be making it would appear, making fun of politician A's Yeah, sort of health condition. Now, I haven't quite worked out whether the well that seems the apology for the cartoon that made fun of politician. B's health condition came after the hell enhancing well bit too late. And is it to better late than never? I don't know. I hope that people can learn and we can get back to well for starters play. The issue not the person play.

You know, that sort of thing, I think is necessary. I think there's too much Focus, perhaps on personality, politics and personalities and let's get back to debating the issues, which is what, you know. I was kind of brought up with, when I was a little person debate, the issues debate them on Logic, debate the debate them on values, not just with this often at times deliberately whipped up at motion. I think we need to do that better for starters and just

Well, stop and think more, you know, just, they don't know. They, you know, this there seems to be this as I say, self-absorbed approach all the time. There's got to be a better way than that. How do we raise as many people up? And certainly not push anyone else down? That's my different one of the definitions of leaders and leaders that just attract people I'm thinking I can't remember.

Who exactly said it from memory, it was a, some sort of Economist who actually said or business type who said leaders don't create more followers, they create more leaders. And if you've got people, you know, sort of robotically, following someone else and given freedom of species comes up at 1:00. I'm not going to say they're following like sheep but whether that's appropriate or not. Now I just think that you know, we need to be building

We also need people to think for themselves investigate for themselves all that sort of thing and just start sort of really checking things out rather than just believing every Source. Now, sort of and go with things like that now, as well as the rain, lots of things to discuss today on the show today actually is in.

International artists day and writing with telepathy sized again because you've just popped an email message through how Helen Haynes gave a queer student artist. Hope now I'm going to have a listen to that track while we listened to read of that article. Just, I'm sure it's great and it's the sort of kindness that she did. I'm going to have a listen to that while we keep up the sort of watery.

Which also made it reminds me to thank the crew from out of the blue. Well, diving, deep for the Marine use as they do every Sunday. As I say, you don't probably have to dive too much today. You could probably just stand in the street and be already up to your ankles or something, even as I said, it is a precipitous out there. But yeah, let's have another track about water as a ... at the late, great Margaret Urlich and the tide it keeps rolling in 3. CR 855 am.

Prior to the messages, we heard from Margaret Urlich's from her album, which was safety in numbers and the tide keeps rolling in the title role in and the rivers will rise if the precipitation Precipitous conditions continue, but I think it's only largely for a day or so and then it will pass through the central Victorian area and move on. But some yeah certainly very wet weather. And yes, one of the great variety of music shows that exists on 3, CR there with Rock and Roots. If you perhaps are you know, you will listen to that. While you're doing shift work at now. You're dropping off too.

Like with me wherever time, whatever your routine is glad to have you with me on out of the pan. So covering pansexual issues as I like to say now. Roving, as I said, sent in a article about the kind of the type of kindness that Helen influenced a queer student with her work. And I'm going to put the link to that which was only posted yesterday morning about how Ow Northeast, Victorian resident, Frankie Carol, shared a comic about her experience with Helen Haynes. And it's how Helen made her feel heard valued and safe and hopeful in a political climate of fear mongering and useless culture wars, and how Helen supported the local queer Community. When The Wangaratta Rainbow Ball was sadly having to be cancelled due to security concerns. Now this is exactly the sort of fabulous human being that Helen wants. You don't you just listen to the Grassroots and Connor McFadden is also quoted in this article and who's a I'm just trying to get the who's me. The I'm sorry, describe them as Hines as a mum to the community. And he said, as Hines visited the high school, he was in many times. And, you know, this is just a sort of people person that Helen Haynes is and made a difference. Setting up a leadership program for this man's Mansfield, secondary schools leadership team. Well, L, don't create. more followers, they create more leaders. Hello its funding for the local Historical, Society attending the naming of the Alex Chompy Pullin stated Stadium. Yeah, wow. What a true Spirit of the Member of Parliament and a leader and sort of Miss, Haines was part of a Polly's in the pub event, run by the A and use Regional Rural and remote Society. This is the sort of inspirational Grassroot leadership, we need and she remembered mr. McFadden's name remembered the Mansfield connection. Even though, I'd only met her once. It was two years ago now, I, that impresses me. I have to say that I can, you know, I remember faces. It's, I think it's a narrative, her chin thing. But I can never say never, I don't, it takes me ages to remember people's names. So yet that is exactly the sort of thing we're talking about Rome. Irving you are on the button as you always roving around and great to have you back connected. More fully with the show. Hope you've been doing all right.

And yeah, well today I think right to the day, October 25th, if we're going to LGBTI QA+ is intersex awareness day now think that slowly but surely you know, it's October 26. I beg your pardon and of course, Nova and adding in November 8th is intersects day of solidarity and well, I October 26, the first public demonstration by intersex advocates in North America on October, 26 1996 outside, the American Academy of Pediatrics conference in Boston, Massachusetts, as And character would have said, intersex variation of sex characteristics, including chromosomes horn own hormones, reproductive anatomy, and genitals that don't fit medical and social norms for male and female bodies. And very, very much, you know, it's goes to the point that there isn't just one or the other bus those binaries, you know, in a way. And of course I would refer People to the interview back in August with Paul which I think went into a lot of detail on this. And you know, it was I'll be perfectly Frank. I learnt new things about intersex and had a few niggling queries sorted out and you can check out of course that episode and all the episodes of out of the pan 3 CR dot org dot, are you out of the pan episodes?

Paul Byrne Maroney on the 23rd of August and I think it's really important intersex as a diversity educator role. As I like to call it, I'll do my Family Feud host and Survey an audience of people and ask them their knowledge. Let's say what they think of LG think they replace themselves as LGBTQ overall, and then might pick out a few of the parts individually and often intersex perhaps most of all intersex is the least understood. But once you get through it and sort of say what it's about as much as I as an end. 06 Ally, can people start thinking about? And I recently chatted myself for what it's worth with a group of medical. Well, teachers lecturers in a university setting, and it really made them stop and think that, you know, you can't just put people into boxes and, you know, we all want, I think bodily autonomy and when intersex people don't get that because Society wants to put them in a box very early in life and do irreversible harm. Now that of course is problematic. So there's a principle in there. It's a human rights, principle, of course. And I also remember one Fab intersex person saying to me many years ago that intersex people are forced into a binary by getting operations. They don't want or trans people are forced to stay stuck in a binary because they can't get the Opera. The world will say the treatments that we want. So it's, you know, about forcing people into those damn binaries. So, bust them out, you know, smash the binary as well as well as the patch here as well. That could be another 5 episode show of shows. So certainly support into people with variation of sex characteristics tomorrow on intersex awareness.

Today and you have another listen please to the interview with Paul. I might repost that on the out of the pan socials that were mentioned at the start of the show and we'll keep moving it. And yeah the commemoration Day first happened in 2003 and B where a Central awareness-raising site was established to buy a b c Drive and Amica Jama. And that was re-established in 2015 by prominent Australian Advocate Morgan Carpenter along with Laura, into of Brew Eula intersexual and support from open Society foundations. So yeah. Just about ending negativity, shame, secrecy and just saying that, you know, sort of Interest people with variation of sex. Characteristics are just that people comma who with variation of sex characteristics and need to be treated with dignity and respect. Alright today, as well as being very wet is international artists day as I mentioned and I decided to dig out a track from Dire Straits. It honor. Well, it's artists of all sorts not just visual painting type of artists, but could have played a few tracks today from the first Dire. Straits, album way back in 1978 down to the waterline and water of Love, would have fitted the rainfall theme. But I'm going to have a big music break here with the album track in the gallery and I think sadly some of the things that are the themes that are mentioned in this song is still relevant for artists today but it resonated 3 CR 855 am 3 CR Digital 3, CR dot org dot a you and 3 CR on demand out of the pan with Sally.

3 CR 855 am 3 CR Digital 3, CR dot org, dot Tau 3 CR on demand out of the pan with Sally first broadcasting known through one every Sunday afternoon. Thanks for your company and we just heard from Dire Straits in the gallery and yeah attract for international artists day and Seems kind of appropriate. That that was one that just came to mind. Yeah. The battles of commercialism and factionalism and goodness knows what else in the Arts World. Well, some glimmer, which is a word that gets used when the opposite for a trigger. Something nice. Something that lifts you rather than offsets you SCOTUS, Supreme Court of the United States one, president of the United States POTUS. Neil this is a report from Associated Press the supreme court on. Wednesday refused to allow the Trump Administration to immediately. Enforce new medical restrictions for Trans people in federal prisons. So the decision leaves in place a lower court block on the policy and mr. President, tried to put this executive order in the legal reasoning wasn't detailed. and the Supreme Court has approved has previously allowed other Trump policies that we would consider anti-trans, including military service, and passports X markers to be changed, but Trump's order called on the Bureau of federal prisons to result buyers, its medical care policies. So that federal funds aren't spent quote for the purpose of conforming, an inmate's appearance to that of the opposite. Sex end quote, so that would halt surgeries taper off hormones.

Since social accommodation like makeup and wigs for track those identifying more feminine but they'd still get Mental Health Services, isn't that nice Mental Health Services to cope with the fact that you can't be yourself attorneys for Trans inmates challenge, the policy and the US District Judge, Royce Lamberth, ordered the treatments to continued to continue and that untreated gender dysphoria can obviously damage mental health and the Trump Administration appealed arguing the treatments, raise security concerns and could no longer be justified. Yes, well we don't we don't have any information on the security concerns about that at all. Now, if someone's a violent person, you put them in the maximum security Ward with the other violent people...

and it's thank you roving. My ADHD, addled, brain in. It was not quite enough its best condition today. Roving said, shout out to Jenny, I think I read one of her late letters in the newspapers this week. Can you confirm it? She is a prolific letter writer. Yes Jenny had sent that to me so thank you indeed. Let me do the impossible and try to find on my computer by Godfrey. Here it is. Yes, technology works. When you're going to can and Jenny talks about and raises the concern, given the increasing concerns about safety for women, you know, sort of what security measures will be put in place to protect staff, working at the Victorian state election. And what I think that's not just electoral staff but candidates and voters and I extended to women trans and gender diverse and other people who could be faced some degree of negativity. I'm aware of trans and gender diverse people facing intimidation and when fighting at the federal election last year and so all staff need to have adequate security, appropriate training and clear procedures for reporting threats and what about, you know, sort of safety and well-being of Staff being treated as a priority, we all want to participate in our Democratic process in some people. Do feel somewhat threatened. After I'll say the situation earlier this week in relation to hell and Haines. Yeah, on the button, Jenny and sort of, obviously there's been a lot of debate about, you know, sort of security for politicians in Since the situation on Monday Australian time. And I think yes I suppose we need to look at symptoms where, you know, we need to consider that. You know, do we need to reconsider things, you know, but it's also about how we do prevention. I think is critical. I mean toning down the debate is great, but what exactly does that mean? How do we get the debate, not so much what we say, how we say it. As I said earlier, how do we get that back? So Jenny, you're on the button there for sure. And thanks for reminding me roving. Just to be one of those mornings but there we go. Yeah. So yeah, I think we need all these glimmers. And yep. Jenny on the button there and yep, thank you roving. Again. Yeah, we certainly need to make sure that our voting processes are safe. I mean, it's sort of sometimes we tend to think these sorts of things, are they happen overseas. They won't happen here. Well, they are happening here. Now, what, you know, as I said, I don't want to get into what's, you know, inciting these things particularly, in light of the emotional situation. And as I said, a legal situation this week, it's just how do we get things back to a better place. Well everyone has to do their bit but particularly people in positions of prominence and influence I think need to play a part as well. All right, let's have another artsy. I'll say an artsy track. If we can call it that I dug out this old favorite from my collection from Tom T Hall. Now coming up as we head towards this. A few, there's lots of days and times of Interest coming up on in the queer calendar. November is trans Awareness Month, sort of, or culminating you might say, well peaking on Friday the 20th of November which this week this year. Sorry is, of course, a Friday around the world trans day of remembrance. Since one of the, what the two key days for Trans people, around the world, as very solemn day, and really important. And there's in the local Melbourne, Nam area, there is a gaggle to use a favorite word of mine of events, on coordinated to some extent, by transgender Victoria, but also involving lots of other groups. And people. I got a big newsletter there of two weeks during the week of those events intersex day of solidarity on November the 8th. We also had International pronoun day this week and it was a sore winner this week. So it is all happening and I think that we do need these days of visibility very very much still to ensure that you know all love lgbtiqa+ gets positivity and standing is very, very important. So yeah, I'm keep your eyes peeled. I also think the midsummer program launch will happen. Sometime in November. And, you know, that's of course, something to look forward to as we get towards summer time and hopefully the living is a bit easier, but yeah, if you go to www.transmonth.org.au/events it's, you can see this gaggle of events that starts. Well, next Sunday, there's a trance family picnic because it is transparent day. No, that doesn't mean you can see through things and it's nothing to do with someone who's now not really mentioned in Hollywood either. Even though the show that, you know what I'm talking about was quite reasonable. And yep. That so a trance family picnic at a park in central Melbourne, you'll get the address email that's put on by tgv and transcend. You've got building trans inclusive sport, a conversation with pride cup at transgender Victoria's affirmation station on Wednesday. The 11th of November you've got trans well-being Family Day in East Brunswick. Further details on registration for Trans kids, transparents and families. So that's pretty awesome sauce. Ins, what else we got? A webinar on legal name and sex marker change, which will be online on Monday the 16th spilling, the tea sex and testosterone for a Fab people. You've got very importantly on Friday, the 20th at 5:30 in at the Fitzroy, Town Hall, the trans day of remembrance vigil, which I think is a very important event. And also there's a playgroup for Trans and gender diverse Dad's on the 21st, you've got a Transfamily Support meeting on the same day you could do both. I think, depending on where both of, those are located. Yep. The play groups at in at the North Fitzroy, Library, rainbow dad's Victoria till 1 p.m. and the transform. We support meeting is at 2 p.m. which I think is in the inner Eastern, suburbs. I might allegedly know that. So Butterflies is a queer Community gathering on Friday, the 27th of November, which is just a safe meet up and then the gender Revel Gallardo Gala in full bloom. And this time we're over at the substation in Newport. So that's a big, you know, a huge event as Darrell Eastlake or someone would say I'd better get out of here. Let Freedom of species get onto the airwaves. I will take it out today, we now have a different form of technology to play the song by Tom T Hall. Called the songwriter on International artists day. Thanks for tuning in to out of the pan. I'm Sally Goldner. Catch you next week.
