Panoply panorama panpipe pansy aha pansexual: knowing no boundaries of sex or gender, sound interesting? Then join Sally on Sundays at noon for out of the pan. All those gender questions making you think too hard? Whether it's transgender bisexual polyamorous or beyond we'll throw those questions into the pan and cook up the answers for you. So go on push that gender envelope. Only on 3 CR 855 am digital and 3 CR dot org dot au

3 CR 855 am 3 CR Digital 3 CR dot org dot au 3 CR on demand; it's Out of the Pan with Sally; first broadcasting noon through one every Sunday afternoon; thanks for your company.

3 CR broadcasts from the lands of the Kulin nations at the overlap of the Wurundjeri and Bunnerong peoples and we pay respects to elders past present and emerging. Hello to any Aboriginal, Torres Strait, Islander First Nations people tuning in today, from whichever land you are on and we acknowledge that this always was and always will be Aboriginal land.

I'm Sally Goldner. I use the pronouns she and her; welcome to listeners of all genders, including but not limited to ladies and gentlemen and out of the pan is a show covering pansexual issues knowing no boundaries of sex or gender, and we will build playing. Well, it's actually, to be honest, not quite pansexual music today because for some reason, just ended up that I ended up picking for Australian rock songs, but it is Aus music month. Of course, the Aria Awards on in the week; well done to Tame Impala swept them along and lots of great award winners and lots of great musicians and put into the ARIA Hall of Fame as well. Yep, good to see such great music acknowledged on the show today.

The well, there's two obvious topics: Friday was probably the most solemn day of the year for Trans people and trans day of remembrance. I'll have a bit of a round up on the news on that. Also you may have heard there is a state election next Saturday and if you're I'm curious if you're a silent elector or needing postal ballots, hopefully you've got them yet. I haven't got mine and I checked it rang them during the week. They said they're on the way, but one person only got them on Friday that I know, but I'd be curious to know if you've got yours yet. Normally, they're here value very quickly to quote Elmer Fudd and yes, will be well, comment giving some thoughts on the election. Of course, we
Not give our direct opinions on candidates or parties but given where an electoral broadcasting period. But obviously, we'll try to give some thoughts in line with those guidelines and also a couple of other things will comment on the passing yesterday of a well-known politician from the point of view of the LGBTIQA+ communities. Largely perhaps, not for reasons. We would have liked but there you go and I'm also going to talk about something else, which is sort of casually mentioned at this time of year over the last couple of years and yet, you know, sort of, I just thought, oh, well, we'll start talking about it now because we are staggering to the end of 2026, sort of wandering around in elliptical shaped directions and sort of seeing the Finish Line, vaguely in the distance, but I want to talk about something to do with that.

But starting on the series night and well, will mention just say General mention for transphobia and violence against trans people. The 20th of November for nearly 30 years now, has been trans day of remembrance, which started in 1999. After Gwendolyn, Ann Smith noticed that people had forgotten about the sad death of her friend Rita Hester. Some use a couple of years ago and also others who had weed. Sadly lost to transphobic violence in what is now called the United States of America and the in 1995, the murder I'm talking about was that of Chanel, Pickett. And so trans day of remembrance

And turned up in first in 1999 and the has been going ever since and we honor those we've lost and it can't, sadly be through or say, direct transphobic violence. But it can also be for indirect reasons such as those we lose who perhaps struggle with their lives and don't make it as far as they might, Otherwise have liked but we can also just remember those who have lost in the trans community and you know two people in the Victorian Community came to mind I maybe just names to you one. We definitely did lose two early. Zoe Bell after whom the Zoe Bell gender Collective / Center is named knowledge in that. I'm a life patron of that organization.
And also I was thinking of someone Jenny Phillips who had a wicked sense of humor got life together in terms of translator things. And then unfortunately found out she had terminal cancer in the early 2000s and perhaps had been smoking too much to you know dull the pain of not being her authentic self and so we do acknowledge these things.
He's and these people most of all and we have to acknowledge sadly that this year the trans murder monitoring project put together by transgender Europe. Noted 273 trans people murdered worldwide from the 1st of October 20, 25 to September 30 2026 95% of the victims, being trans women. Now, that does seem Like a slightly lower number than previous years but one wonders whether that's due to lack of reporting. Transphobia in the US for example where trans people aren't being recognized might make it harder to know if someone was transferred, someone assigned male might have just been recorded as a male, not as a trans woman and 69% of the murders.
Occurred in Latin America and the Caribbean with Brazil accounting for 32% of the of the total. And so the the index has been running since 2009. So doing some rough maths it is still around 300 a year and I mean, one of course is one too. Many is the critical thing. We can get ups and downs about numbers and all that sort of thing. But You know, we as I often like to say we look forward to the day where we don't have to add any new names to the list and so there was did something to me to be a least, a wide range of appropriate acknowledgement of trans day of remembrance and something. I think we've the communities. The trans communities worked hard for is acknowledgement of
And intersectional identities. Now, I went to the the memorial put put on by city of yarra transgender, Victoria, switchboard, /q, life, and others at the Fitzroy, town hall on Friday evening and it's sort of they were great speeches with Corey, for example, has done amazing work over a very long period of time for Pet trans people in custody is spoke. Unfortunately, some of the other speakers weren't identified. Now, some people seem to have a program, I didn't know where there was one and how to get one I know Anastasia Leahy. Now, amongst other things is employed by city of yarra spoke and that was very, very welcome. But I think regardless of not Knowing who the speakers were. I think it was really important that those who are even more marginalized trans. Women of colour people in custody sex workers, similar all very, very important that excuse me, they were acknowledged and the memorial service was what I'd call light and shade it can be a heavy thing. Yes, it needs to be discussed with.
Ignore realities, in my opinion. But there was some soothing in my word performances from some great performers as well. And the key change choir for example and others and it was sort of just right? And then some light Refreshments afterwards where you had a chance to mingle with people and be together. So I think it was very well organized and I think this is What needs to happen, but it is also, why to some extent we totally infinitely acknowledge this day. And as long as there is some shred of human decency, we will keep acknowledging it.
However it's why we need trans day of visibility in on 31st of March as well where we can try called trans awesomeness day and of course, 3 CR has been doing trans day of audibility for many years now, also, I want to acknowledge the Asylum Seeker Resource Center who

Out a media, release relating to the day and mentioned a silent, those seeking Asylum and refugees and trans people who have often, well had to hide their authentic self. Suddenly have to disclose that to well, we'll say often less than highly empathic immigration agents interpreters or Policymakers and all the rest. And they can be very, very isolated and the ASRC Asylum. Seeker Resource Centre assisted talk about how they assisted Finn, a trans man from Indonesia who fled from his home after experiencing content notes, coming up for difficult things, Family Violence and transphobia from his community. They got a detailed statement together and home Affairs unfortunately didn't grant him a protection. These are initially but and a successful appeal, to the administrator administrative review. Tribunal has meant the protection Visa, hopefully is on the way after 5 years now, I know that many of us go through difficulty, but that would just be so difficult. And so well done to Asylum. Seeker Resource Centre and great solidarity. I think it's that sort of solidarity across intersections that we need a lot of and I did see a lot of that. There were some great statements made by many organizations and many individuals and it does bring us together and lift the spirits and that's so so important.

So if you've got any thoughts on trans day of remembrance and anything you did, perhaps you can contact and the program and the waste to do that at out of the pan. 855 at gmail.com you can send an SMS to 6 1, 4 5 6, 7 5 1215, you can go onto Twitter, Mastodon blue sky and Instagram at sell gold said so and that's the bottom line and look for posts on Facebook 3 CR. Sorry. I'll start that again posts on Facebook, Sally Goldner and out of the pan 3. CR 855 am Melbourne. I should have and you can send mail to PO Box 1277 Collingwood 3066 and any opinions, I always express on the show are my own and also if you do need any support through at any time, whether in relation to the show or anything else, Q life, including switchboard in and take in Victoria and Tasmania 100 1845 27, Rainbow door. Hello to roving reporter who has messaged in to say that roving had a pleasant voting experience this week? Despite the one nation volunteers being present with their extreme, View, it was all friendly. Now, this is what it needs to be. First of all, in terms of viewpoints and how two people are treated. And if there's any sort of well, abusive behaviour, even at a polling booth that, you know, just leave people alone. But although not so much abusive or getting into areas of vilification or anything. The one as much as yes, it's nice to have a democracy
And thing that makes me often will say vote early? No, I just vote early but not often. I'm only got one vote. Is the what I call the rugby gang tackle, where you walk up and have 12, how to vote card people trying to shove. It's a paper in your face and I just find that annoying. And I mean one time, I even walked up with a cardboard sign or something saying, know how to vote cards and they still did it and, you know, almost laughed at me, for what I did. And I did report it to the Electoral official in charge, whether anything happened or not, I don't know. But, if you'd know how you're going to vote, you don't need a how to vote card. Just, please. I know, scrutineers(sic) . You've got a job to do analytes the thing. But if someone says no, no means, no pretty, please. Sugar on top, be nice and all that sort of thing. And once again, not for the first time in recorded history, there's been reports about us reports allegedly. Well, not allegedly. That someone who is not. There's a sort of how to vote cards that perhaps try to take votes off the greens. Now, back in 1998, when there was a critical, Victorian State by-election, I happened to be there that day and the pole. I remember the poor actual greens worker with seeing to how, to vote cards, who perhaps, didn't know what was quite going on. So yeah, interesting stuff.

All right, let's have some more of that. Well it as I say it's it's turned out today that it's not quite pansexual music. We opened up today with Ian Moss from matchbook, we opened with the final track on, that 1989 CD. I'll remember you in honor of trans day of remembrance and we now have a track from James rain and there's a rumour. And well, there's a rumour, there's a state election, we'll talk about that more after we hear from James 3. CR 855 am 3 CR Digital 3, CR dot org, dot U 3 CR on demand out of the pan with Sally

3 CR has all kinds of music programs for you to hear from Blue to hip hop reggae classical hung jury as Soul indigenous experimental Indie metal and other music Styles. 3 CR 855 am 3 CR Digital 3, CR dot org, dot U 3 CR on demand out of the pan with Sally first broadcasting known through one every Sunday afternoon. Thanks for your company. We heard prior to the messages from James rain from the album hard rain think we've got some of that coming this afternoon. If you're listening live, the bar me season that we're in Melbourne. Time. And a rumour. That is the rumour is there is rain coming. Check your check your local Bureau guides. For more information was a bit soggy sexual orientation and gender identity as I was coming here. Yes, it is as we speak at, if you're listening live at 12:28 rain, most of it to the South but I'm certainly the west of the state and the North
And bands coming through there but I think we're going to be having it. No, not maybe not for too much longer. Most of it as a say over Bass Strait as opposed to bask we're in any way you may have heard, there is a state election coming up and now it's obviously of relevance to queer voters. Now as per the the Electoral guidelines I obviously can't Can't give an opinion or anything on how to vote or anything. But I always say be just be careful on how you do it. Now, the Upper House, the Victorian Upper House, the legislative Council has changed its voting system so you have to do more than just put a 1 in 1 box above the line. Now, you might tell that's going to be hard work. I have to put at least 12345 or something. Yes, you do. You can put 12345 above the line, or you can fill out at least five individual squares below the line. And, and then you have a valid vote in. This is the in the Upper House, the lower house. Of course, you have to number all squares from 1 through to whatever to have a valid vote. And the thing with the upper house is that, that means we've got rid of the preference Whispering type of deals that seemed to elect a lot of micro parties on a very, very tight.
Tiny percent of the vote and that was considered a bit. Hmm, a bit. Well, yes, ma'am. Is it probably a good word in my mic more of front-line voice. Mmmm. Anyway, so yes but use your vote wisely and as I always say, check out candidates and individuals and all that sort of thing if you want to for your upper house district, come coveralls.is try to find out as much as you can about the candidates and what they're about. And in this day and age of search engines, usually people come up now, I interestingly, in my lecture and I'll be careful here. Found someone had a past conviction. Yet is still able to stand now, maybe it's not criminal enough or something. I don't know how that works. But anyway, I won't go into further detail. Now we're obviously,
If you've had a speeding fine or something, that is not a criminal offense, that's a civil offense but it seemed a bit more serious than that in terms of some sort of misuse of funds. Hmm, yes. Anyway. So yes, always investigate the candidates I think is the important thing. Now, as I say I cannot obviously give direct recommendations but to quote the 12th man imitating Ray, rabb's Warren. You don't have to be a rocket surgeon to work out where Things line terms of lgbtiq a plus a little bit of basic research will find out, which parties are more favorable through to muddling, through to unfavorable. And I think that's really, really important because we have seen some statements by Jess Wilson. And this is fact, we are allowed to mention facts on this program and Jess has said that she would abolish the Victorian State equal opportunity law that effectively. I better be careful here, wipe out the Victorian State, equal opportunity law, that protects trans and gender diverse people. She's also said that just Wilson has announced a View of puberty blockers. I'm in terms of she's announced a sorry, a review of puberty blockers and that just well sames like, you know, sort of well, we'll say pandering to the far right in my reasonable opinion. Now, we know

R. Another party stands on trans issues and that's not appropriate. So we also know where other parties stand we had Steve Demopolis the current until at least next Saturday night Minister for equality. Even though we're in caretaker mode Now sort of give Labour's policy we know where parties like greens and socialist. And so I suppose. The thing is, when you allocate your preferences, if that is something you want to Consider trans and queer issues, you know? Then you will consider these policies. But as I say, be careful with your preferences, work it out in accordance with your own values and just give it some thought. But I really think, you know, it's obviously a very critical election in Victoria's history, you know, I'm not going to try to predict any outcomes. Some people say well,
What about, what about what the opinion polls are saying? Well, we saw, whereas only last year, with the federal election, how inaccurate the opinion polls were in terms of the final result. No one predicted the labor virtual landslide to use the political term that happened federally. And I've heard it said, I don't know how you'd ever verify this, but many people deliberately give nonsense answers to political opinion, polls. Just to throw them out. Throw the poles out.
Is that Tehran not going to be accurate and throw things off and whether they give a general indicator, I don't know. It's obvious you know, fair to say that there will be now for more everything I can see a swing against labor and I can't comment on why that might be or whether it should be or not or whatever but how the actual results going to fall and how it falls in each house and each seat. We really are in uncharted waters here. So I think even though
The elections. Next Saturday, we're not going to have an idea of both houses of Parliament for probably a couple of weeks afterwards and this is where it could get critical in terms of the numbers in the upper house. So I know there's probably anxiety about these policies and the possibility through to probability of the liberal National Coalition forming government in some shape or form whether with the support of one nation. But also let's not panic and also if whatever they attempt to do. In my opinion, there's going to be a long, they'd be a long road ahead, but at this point in time, all other things being equal, we have a federal anti-discrimination law and under a section of the Australian Constitution. If there's an inconsistency between federal and state law federal override state. So it seems that no one wonders there for what the implications of that of such.
Liberals doing such a move is if they do try to turn back any relevant trans protection laws such as birth certificates or anti-discrimination law but we'll have to wait and see. So let's as Willie Nelson said live one day at a time, had a couple more messages even from a roving reporter roving is said, recommending following Khan's Instagram, who's the CEO of the Asylum? Seeker Resource Center.
And he's articulate noise. Lovely views decoding. The ugly nature of our politics and roving is also said, there are friendly. Police Patrols in. Some designated polling Booth areas and all parties have had a briefing to behave by the VC, this year to, according to rovings, Auntie who is working on Election Day. And yet this follows from the horrible situation, with Helen Haynes and the contentious nature of our politics now which I'm going to touch on in a story in the next segment as well. It kind of links and writings and I'm just messaged in live as we speak Steve Demopolis was on Joy. This weekend is also been in his own polling Booth every day and we have a mixed bag of people. In our Parliament is people have grown tired of both major parties. Sadly. Yeah, well this certainly seems to be the thing that well, They're called major parties as I often say, perhaps they could be called larger parties and that's, I think an important point. But I'm just going to throw in one article here, which one of our awesome listeners Kayleen sent in or sent to me some time ago and

This kind my way in that as I try to find the page again because it wants to run away when we need it because I've got too many tabs open. Let's see if it will come back again. I'm just crazy about the page and this was an article by The lemkin Institute for genocide prevention and human security. And why do I bring this up? Well, there's two reasons.
As one trans related because a few years ago, it was just under four years ago, they put out an article statement on the genocide or nature of the gender critical movements ideology and practice. And it begins by saying quote Janice idle, ideologies are ideologies that deny or seek to erase the existence of a specific group because of the supposed threat, it poses to the holders of the ideology.
And you know, there is an argument to say that some of the things we see against trans people denying as Medical Care denying us access to what we consider accurate, documentation do hurt us. They can kill people and is that Janice Idol? That is a fair point so it is something to be considered and I'll pop a link to this article in the podcast link for those listening. Once again, the lemkin L E M K I N Institute and just look for statement on the genocide or nature and if you're doing a search right now and it will come up, and let's have now some more music and this is a bit of a long, a long track, or we might just go to a shorter, one, and not will go with the original thought, because we can, here's the angels,Hi pull this out of them out time during the week. How to listen. Forgot how good it was. I saw one of those bio docos on the angels on YouTube and it just reminded me of this his a track called something. You can't afford to do and that's look the other way. 3 CR 855 am 3 CR Digital 3, CR dot org dot. Are you 3 CR on demand out of the pan with Sally?

Hello, this is Leroy McQueen and you're listening to add to the pan on 3 CR.

3 CR 855 am 3 CR Digital 3, CR dot org, dot Tau 3 CR on demand out of the pan with Sally first broadcasting known through one every Sunday afternoon. Thanks for your company and prior to the messages, we heard for wrong, the angels. And look the other way. Don't look the other way to things difficult. As it may be, sometimes you've got to face them and
Deal with them. Let's continue on with the news of the week there's been a few and coming in just in the last few hours is the passing of Fred Nile. Now for those who may not want to remember or forgotten some way whatsoever. Fred mile, the parliamentarian in the New South Wales State Parliament for many years. He was from the Christian democrats, and well used to do things like praying for rain before Mardi, Gras every year, they mately opposed to marriage equality, all that, sort of thing. There's a few issues going on here and they're sort of he passed away yesterday and survived by generations of his family. And interestingly,

Though the Christian Crusader found an unlikely Ally in Sydney, independent MP, Alex Greenwich before Nile left, the New South Wales Parliament and together, they protected indigenous culture and Heritage which shows that well, you know, politics is an interesting thing. But he is a point, which already on some social media channels. I'm on, is well, creating some contention. Now, this is not in quote marks in this nine media Alex Greenwich on Sunday, sent a message to Premiere. Chris means requesting a state service to honour Nile's contribution to New South. Wales Greenwich said he had formed a good working relationship with novel towards the end of his Niles parliamentary career, despite the pair's opposing views on most Progressive issues. And then in quote marks, Reverend Nile played, the balm of the person. End, quote Greenwich said begin quotes again, his opposition to many of the reforms I delivered came
From his faith and he didn't engage in the personalized vitriol that comes from many of today's right-wing politicians end quote. Hmm. It also says that in an article in 2022 which I have located October 23 2022, Fred mile apologizes for praying for rain on the Mardi, Gras parade. And even though he still Doesn't support marriage equality. And in this interview, he said, when asked quite by a reporter. Can you tell me that that to Pray For Rain might have been a bit on the mean side of things for now. I'll says yes, probably wasn't upsetting your lives reporter. Well, could you say, sorry. Come on. No, I'm sorry. Good on you for your grace seriously. Yeah. Look mixed thoughts and feels for a long time.
Time. Those sorts of views really in my opinion was quite damaging for well I'll say predominantly gay and lesbian people, but by today's standards all of lgbtiq a plus. And now, look, it's an interesting thing that you know, yet lets you know, play the ball, not the real play, it play the issue, not the personal, play the ball, as they say in sporting context. That's Oh very well but what happens when both sides don't do it. And this is where we get to that sort of famous thing. That one of our longtime listeners Nigel sent me some time ago, the Paradigm of Tolerance and the thing is, the more you tolerate intolerance more, it comes in, you know, you're letting it in and the thing is, everyone has to agree on what's tolerable and Intolerable and what tolerance means and all that sort of stuff. So you know we're in well, pun intended oh no humor intended or non-binary sort of area here. I think how, you know, comes down. I suppose it's everyone's call. How forgiving can we be? I'll accept that. Alex Greenwich has been incredibly gracious in his response, there to Fred. Now I'm just not, you know, look, it is fair as much as I please disagree with Nile's views that he did give a lot of service to community but yeah I don't know what the answer is. I mean, I'm sure that let's say if a really Pro trans person got into Parliament then you know with the with the right-wing have would they have the grace and what they offer to say? Let's have a state service. I don't know. Rovings come in again.
And said that roving is off to the Grand Final. The a FLW next week which is super inclusive and less blokey to which I would agree and unfortunately haven't made any a FLW matches this season due to various commitments. But that's the way the biscuit breaks and roving said, it's the only time we roving and friends, I felt comfortable to Footy game especially for queer people. Go Melbourne. Yeah, look I agree with you on the FLW. I'm not I
Thing to 1 sorry to IFL men's games in the last six years of look you know K to be honest roving. I haven't had any major issues or anything but I'd much prefer the FLW. I'd also prefer it if the Richmond teams in both were more successful. But look, Richmond has a 16. I think it's 16 in 16 probability of 16/17 in the men's of going up now.
Next year. And so that's a that's, let's look on the glass half-full side, yellow and black and the women did some had some good wins this year as well. So go tigger's is what we like to say a couple of other quick bits of news or news. And then here's my request for listening input. I'll do the request for listening input first in the past, I've just occasionally sort of casually mentioned someone who I thought did great work during the year and I've come up with this queer of the year and my brain did something very dangerous, it worked in a proactive. And timely manner this morning, maybe Vyvance and caffeine be blessed. And I thought listeners, I'm going to put out a call. Who is your queer of the year? And we might do two categories for lack of anything better: so called Australian-based and world based queer of the year. Who do you think's done? Good things. This year for quiz and could be queer of the year. So I'll keep mentioning that on socials and other things throughout the next four weeks until we come up to the last show of the year, which the last live new show, for the year will be on Sunday, the 20th of December. So we've got about four or five, more shows left for the year. So yeah, well I'll keep keep thinking about that and I'll keep mentioning it. And and yeah, welcome your thoughts in the meantime and what is it? The judge's decision will be final and now is it no communication shall be entered into or something. Now, the last thing I wanted to talk about this week whilst not directly raided, a couple of other things that not not related to LGBTIQA+ well, done to the UN body for finding a country or a state guilty of genocide. Horrible the genocide happened.

And in Rohingya, but certainly sets a great precedent that that's been recognized and has happened.

And the other thing that I wanted to mention was in relation to some comments by Lord men, Nicholas Reece. And I find these comments surprising given his background and you could say, oh he's on Sky News now, which might say something, but he's, you know, heavily been heavily involved in labor and he called for a return. I'm going to say huge content, note ableism and sanism here for a return to psychiatric institutions and asylums, which is just I just cannot believe anyone would want to go back to that. This was in response to the murder of someone in the CBD area by someone with mental health problems. Well the better answer is to put more money and better quality services into Mental Health Services and quoting the organIzation SANE which has been around a long time. They put out a media release saying institutionalization reinforces stigma distracts, people from the real issue and that's rebuilding Australian Community, Mental Health, supported housing, and psychosocial recovery systems. And that in response to Nicholas. Researchers comment saying, said we should fix the gaps that leaf people with complex mental health needs without Matic met out without adequate treatment housing.
Going support and that's from sign CEO. Rachel Green here here. Also the chief clinical officer Rahul Khanna has focused on that as well. So yeah. Well done to sign and soaring Lord me up our all. All right. What a pact program, it is next week on the show. I will have a new East joining me live on air and that will be Ella from Pony Club gym which I went to for the first time a week or so ago and I'll talk about that next week. Great venue where wherever where's have? I been where is it? Ben and many fun people but I'll take it out today with some music from in excess and in honour of the fact that today, the 22nd of November is the 29th anniversary of the sad and way too early, passing of Michael Hutchence and here's one of my favourite INXS tracks. From the early album, Shabooh Shabaah It is perfectly clear. It is black and white together. It's not binary. They're both together. And that is the track. We'll finish up with today. Thanks for tuning in to out of the pan. Thanks roving for all your messages. I'm Sally Goldner. Stay difficult. Stay happy catchya next week.
